

I have a complaint against Voom for their dishonesty luring customers in knowing thier companies instability. I feel they should not have taken new customers until all financial litigations were cleared with them first. I personally would not have signed with them if i knew of their unstablitly and lies to lure customes in. They are biased to certain customers offering them free trials and when I called them on it i was told no offer exist. I have had numerous problems with their receivers and satellite they could not fix, yet even though they are providing such poor service to me, they still want their $250 if you break their contract. I do not mind paying for a contract if iam being provided a service, but for the service they provide which is lies and faulty equiptment, i pray they go under so then they will be in default of OUR contracts.
